A SPECIAL HISTORY TO SHARE & CELEBRATE

In July of 1947, Coronet Peak opened as New Zealand's very first commercial ski field. With founder Harry Wigley at the helm, Coronet Peak quickly changed not only Queenstown's tourism landscape forever, but the country's. As the skiers flocked, investment in the ski field and the town followed. Seventy-five phenomenal years later, the mountain is celebrating its diamond anniversary.

From a single rope-tow in 1947 to present day; three express chairlifts (one with gondola cabins), the largest snowmaking installation in the Southern Hemisphere, extensive base facilities and recently the re-introduction of summer sightseeing and mountain biking. Coronet Peak has gone from strength to strength.

After 75 years, the people of the mountain have many tales to tell. This winter they will be shared and celebrated, providing an opportunity to deepen the connection with guests and the local community. Coronet Peak has begun sharing these stories on social channels, and will continue to do so throughout the season leading up to the 75th anniversary celebration from August 17 - 21, 2022.

ABOUT US

Coronet Peak, located in Queenstown - New Zealand, was the country's first commercial ski area, providing good times since 1947.

The mountain is Queenstown's urban playground, only 20 minutes from downtown along a sealed road. Guests are treated to freshly groomed trails during First Tracks from 8am daily, right through to Night Skiing on select nights until 9pm.

Coronet Peak has 280ha of skiable terrain, 1649m elevation with 462m vertical drop. An extensive state-of-the-art snowmaking set up (the largest in the Southern Hemisphere) ensures peak conditions throughout the whole season.

Coronet Peak is committed to kaitiakitanga, guardianship, over the mountain. There is a strong programme of activity to restore and enhance the environment including work to eradicate wilding, non-native plants, revegetating trails, and pest control.

In addition to a jam-packed winter, summer operations include sightseeing with the Peak Gondola and chairlift accessed mountain bike trails.
